As the Balkan countries move away from being zones of conflict and post-conflict towards stability and democratic consolidation, so some private and public funders have moved away from the Balkans to regions of greater need. But others, in particular some bilateral donors and the European Union, remain steadfast in their support. The Balkan Trust for Democracy is a partnership between some of the key funders that have remained.

The Fond dr. Zoran Djindjić was established on the 15th December 2003, after the tragic murder of Zoran Djindjić, Prime Minister of the Republic of Serbia. The Fund was founded with the help of his closest colleagues and friends and with the aim of continuing to promote the values which Zoran Djindjić strove towards. The Fund's managing board is chaired by Ružica Djindjić.

"We, as a nation, lost the 20th century, we didn't win anything in the 20th century. We made huge mistakes and we must focus on the future." Zoran Djindjić
